Experiences In That Great Victory

Captain Corwin P. Rees, commanding the Naval Station, gave a very interesting talk before the Men's League Central Union church last evening Tagship Olympia,

Mr. Rees is always an interesting speaker and his interlineation of persenal anecdote with ringing oratory and appropriate verse kept his audi told of the pleasant days he had spent in Honefulu during his long service in the navy. He then went into the detail of his assignment to the flagship Olym-pia as executive officer in which ca-pacity he sailed from Hongkong when the fleet of six warships went forth to battle. He especially noted the kindly place he had in his heart for the Brit-ish whose rousing cheers constituted, the send-off of the fleet when it salled out of Hongkong in war palit.

The night before the fleet entered Manila bay Admiral Dewey called his captains together and went over the plan of action for the morrow. He told them that it was understood that the channel of the harbor was thoroughly mined. The admiral was not especially fearful of the value of the mines, "But," he added, "The Olympia will go shead and clear the mines out fo ou."

The Olympia did go ahead and aliongad arblance. If some one had mentioned it his audience would have been on its feet instantly to give 1909.
